Air Force Research Laboratory

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility Developmental Training Pilot

26 April 2023

INTRODUCTION:

The Air Force Research Laboratory (AFRL) headquartered at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio, is the science and technology enterprise for the Air and Space Force. AFRL leads the discovery, development, and delivery of warfighting technologies for our air, space and cyberspace forces. We're pushing the boundaries and creating a new tomorrow through unparalleled research. AFRL has a strong history of exploration and invention, relevant to operational capabilities today and indispensable to our Nation's future. Every day, AFRL pushes the boundaries of modern technology and improves the science for tomorrow. Most of all, what makes AFRL truly special is the workforce – no one can match AFRL's talent, passion, or commitment to the Warfighter. AFRL delivers unparalleled capability to the Air Force through a combination of world class infrastructure and expertise of its diverse workforce of military, civilian and Contractor personnel.

The AFRL diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility (DEIA) mission is to create and nurture a diverse and inclusive environment, where opportunities are equitable for all employees. AFRL has always required innovative and diverse thinking, but never more so than today. To meet today's challenges, AFRL must continue to work toward a culture of inclusion and equity that makes every member of the workforce feel empowered and able to fully contribute to the mission by bringing their perspectives forward. Opportunities for development and advancement must be equitable. AFRL is committed to setting the gold standard for people centered leadership. To this end, AFRL must continue to seek awareness and broadening of the understanding of DEIA centric principals and behaviors, while ensuring DEIA is embedded throughout the fabric of the work environment.
