DATA RESTRICTION

Restricted technical data shall NOT be forwarded without express permission from the U.S. Government Procuring Contracting Officer, nor can be released to any employee of the company who is not a Canadian or U.S. Citizen or an officially designated Permanent Resident of Canada or an Intending Citizen of the United States.

Employees shall use unclassified technical data only for the purpose for which it was released. This document and/or the information contained in this document is not releasable to the public or media; nor should be sent over the internet unencrypted or posted to any public web sites.

The receiving company is responsible for implementation and maintenance of the controls and measures appropriate to safeguarding the specific data. Each employee who uses the unclassified technical data, received through this program, is responsible for its care while in its immediate charge, and for its appropriate destruction when use is finished. The Contractor is REQUIRED to destroy all documents to include all reproductions, duplications or copies thereof, by shredding, pulping, burning, tearing to make unreadable or melting any physical copies and/or deletion or removal of downloaded files from computer drives and electronic devices and any copies of those files.

NOTE: Persons are advised that illicit use or disclosure of this data, especially unauthorized export, may result in criminal prosecution of the individual(s) responsible, including officers of the company. As well, serious penalties for the company may result, such as revocation of certifications and exclusion from the export process.
