

PERFORMANCE WORK STATEMENT

DIRECTOR's DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM IN LEADERSHIP REQUIREMENT FOR LEADERSHIP TRAINING

1.0 INTRODUCTION

1.1 DESCRIPTION OF SERVICES

The Contractor shall provide all faculty instruction, classroom facilities to include information technology set-up and support, instructional materials, program evaluation summaries, breakout room space, program website with access to course materials, program management support, and a course certificate of completion to support seven separate executive education leadership courses of instruction (Vision, Partnering, Strategic Thinking, External Awareness, Political Savvy, Global Perspective, and Entrepreneurship) through the use of an existing and previously delivered open enrollment course. The training is to be provided at the Contractor's educational institution for the benefit of participants selected by the Government to take part in the training. The Contractor shall also provide onsite participant lodging accommodations and meals as prescribed by the offered executive education program of instruction. The Defense Contract Audit Agency (DCAA) Director's Development Program in Leadership (DDPL) is designed as a multi-agency cohort comprised of Federal and Department of Defense (DoD) participants.

1.2 MISSION AND ORGANIZATION

The DCAA, as a key member of the government acquisition team, is a dedicated steward of taxpayer dollars that delivers high quality contract audits and services to ensure that warfighters get what they need at fair and reasonable prices. The Agency's primary function is to conduct contract audits and provide related financial services for the DoD and other federal entities responsible for acquisition and contract administration. Specifically, DCAA helps determine whether costs are allowable and reasonable. DCAA provides recommendations to government officials regarding contractor cost assertions for specific products and services. With these recommendations, contracting officers are better able to negotiate prices and settle contracts for major weapon systems, services, and supplies.

DCAA operates under the authority, direction, and control of the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller)/Chief Financial Officer. The Agency consists of about 4,800 employees at over 300 locations in the United States, Europe, the Middle East, Asia and the Pacific. DCAA's organizational structure consists of three geographic regions, a field detachment to conduct classified work, and four-Corporate Auditing Directorates (CAD).

1.3 BACKGROUND

The DDPL program is a competency-based executive leadership development program designed to develop senior-level careerists' with the leadership knowledge, skill, and abilities for effective managerial and executive-level performance. The program focuses on eleven (11) - DoD Civilian Leader Development Continuum and Framework (DoDI 1430.16) leadership competencies (Vision, External Awareness, Strategic Thinking, Political Savvy, Global Perspective, Partnering, Entrepreneurship, National Security Strategy, National Defense Integration, and National Security Environment). This is an 18-month program built upon ten (10) one (1) week distinctive leadership competency-based courses supported by Material/Combatant Command site visits as culminating capstone events. During the program, participants will cycle between a week of leadership instruction and six (6) weeks of home station duty. The program has been designed to equip future executives within the cohort with the advanced strategic leadership competencies needed to excel as multifaceted leader's in today's and tomorrow's dynamic environment.

1.4 OBJECTIVE

DDPL's overarching objective is to deliver executive-level leadership training aligned to select DoD Civilian Leadership Continuum competencies through diverse educational institution learning environments to provide senior-level employees with the knowledge, skills, and abilities for effective managerial and executive-level performance.

2.0 SCOPE

The Contractor shall provide senior Government cohort personnel with executive-level leadership development training in the seven-subject areas defined by the Performance Work Statement (PWS). The course of instruction, cohort individual lodging accommodations, and meals as prescribed by the executive education course's program of instruction shall be provided onsite at the Contractor's institution. The cohort will be approximately 25-40 participants in senior leadership roles. The course format shall be a three to six day (24 to 44 hours) classroom experience per course based on a pre-existing previously delivered curriculum found in the Contractor's open enrollment catalog, but closed to and confidential for DCAA cohort participants only. The Contractor shall have the capability to support a second cohort within the same contract year should the Government desire to exercise that option. Course dates shall be agreed upon between the Contractor and DCAA as per the availability of DCAA, faculty, and Contractor resources. The Contractor shall have the capability to provide course customization, design, and development for follow-on iterations to include the revision of course materials, if directed by the Government. To ensure diversity of the program educational experience, the Government intends to make multiple awards, but will only award one per institution to the Contractor whose quote is determined to be the best value to the Government, based on the following: technical approach, management approach, prior experience and past performance, and price.
