ACTION CODE: SPECIAL NOTICE

CLASSIFICATION CODE: J – Maintenance, Repair, and Rebuilding Equipment

SUBJECT: Environmental Transmission Electron Microscope Service

SOLICITATION NUMBER: NB642000-25-00465

RESPONSE TIME: 15 days after posting

The National Institute of Standards & Technology (NIST) intends to negotiate, a sole source contract, under the authority of FAR 13.106-1(b), with Thermo Fisher Scientific, located in Hillsboro, Oregon for an agreement to maintain and service an Environmental Transmission Electron Microscope (ETEM).

Sole Source Justification is as follows:

The Materials Science and Engineering Division requires preventative maintenance and emergency repair for a Titan 80-300 kV ETEM. The instrument is used to support techniques for measuring the structure and properties of nanoscale materials in working conditions. This is achieved using in situ high-resolution imaging, diffraction, and chemical analysis techniques, such as electron energy loss spectroscopy (EELS) and energy-dispersive X-ray spectroscopy (EDS), under reactive environments in an ETEM.

Thermo Fisher Scientific Inc, (FEI) has claimed that its employees are the only factory trained representatives authorized to support the Titan 80-300 kV ETEM in North America.

Thermo Fisher Scientific is the manufacturer of the Titan 80-300 kV ETEM.

Thermo Fisher Scientific, Inc., (FEI) does not support any authorized third-party resellers for services or spare parts.

No solicitation package will be issued. This notice of intent is not a request for competitive quotations; however, interested parties who regard themselves as capable of fulfilling these requirements are invited to submit capability responses to the Government for consideration.
