1.1 BACKGROUND

One of the keys to successful patient care is employee efficiency. It all starts with organized and systematic employee scheduling. This is crucial to any business but, has become a major concern for the medical environment.

Some opt to use spreadsheets for this task, and up to a certain point, these can be useful in getting the basics of the job done but, in the long run, nothing beats a good work scheduling app in providing a way to organize healthcare workers' schedules quickly, efficiently, and accurately.

Employee scheduling software will automate all these processes – from the shift details to the allocation of hours to each employee. Even factors like employee type and pay rate are incorporated into the program so that you have a complete overview of how the employees are scheduled for a certain period, without having to go through a series of time-consuming tasks.
